To Whom It May Concern:

Foamade Industries engaged Tenurgy to assist in our efforts to control and reduce our utility expenses. Unlike other companies that find ways to save energy, Tenurgy performed an in-depth analysis and review of our current and past billing to determine if our company was due any refunds or entitled to any future savings. This analysis cost the company no up front fees since Tenurgy only gets paid if a refund or savings is realized by the company.

It was hard to image that there could be an error in our utility billings, as we track these metrics religiously. However, to our good fortune, during Tenurgy's review, Tenurgy uncovered a $30,000 billing error. Working with Tenurgy was a worthwhile experience that took little initial effort, yet produced substantial savings for our company.

In short, I would highly recommend Tenurgy's services to other companies. Tenurgy delivered on its promises to produce refunds and savings. Their knowledge of the industry and detailed analysis is second to none.
